Program Description: Psychology is the scientific study of human and animal behavior and the practical application of that knowledge to improve functioning in individuals, organizations, and communities. Psychology courses and degrees prepare students for a wide range of employment opportunities based on degree-level and specific course of study. This Associate of Art's (A.A.) degree course of study guides students through general education requirements and offers a background in psychological sciences for either employment in an associate degree-level career field or for transfer and completion of a Bachelor's degree in psychology or a related field of study.

Admission Requirements: Must meet first-semester course prerequisites.

Department Faculty Advisors: Amy Kausler, Ph.D., Leslie Buck, M.Ed., & Brandon Whittington, Ph.D.

Division Chair: Terry Kite, Ed.D.

Jefferson College Program Highlights: Some psychology classes, including Honors General Psychology, offer service learning projects in which the College partners with community organizations to offer students the opportunity to interact with professionals in the field. The Jefferson College Psychology Club provides students with many opportunities for learning beyond the classroom. These include community service, field trips, guest speakers, and both attendance and presentation at professional and research conferences in psychology.

Transfer Information: No specific agreements with any institutions at this time, recommended courses with a C or better generally transfer to most institutions.
