Repeat Coursework Policy

In order to receive federal financial aid funds for a repeat course, a previously passed course may be repeated only ONE time and the student may receive Title IV federal funds for a repeated course only one time. Subsequent repeats will not be counted in the student's enrollment level for Title IV funds.

A course is considered passed if the student receives a grade of "D" or better. If the student does not receive a passing grade, there is no limit on the number of attempts. A student may repeat a failed course until it is passed. However, a student who earns a passing grade in a course and chooses to retake the course a second time, earning a grade of "F", may not take the course a third time.

All repeat courses affect financial aid satisfactory academic progress calculations. A repeated course along with the original attempt will be counted as attempted credits.

Important Information Regarding Grants and Loans when Enrolled in Online and Late-Start Courses

PELL Grant awards in the Financial Aid Offer are based on full-time attendance. Students enrolled in less than 12 credit hours will have their awards prorated.

The date used for determining a student's financial aid enrollment level for each term in the semester is the Financial Aid Freeze Date. Enrollment will be frozen immediately following the 100% refund date for each regular term (16 week, 14 week, and 2nd 8 week). For specific refund dates, visit the Jefferson College website to view Add/Drop/Withdrawal Deadlines or review the Refund Policy listed in the College Catalog.

Late Start/2nd Eight-Week Courses: Students may increase hours based on late start courses being added. However, students whose enrollment consists of ALL late start/second eight-week courses will have aid disbursed after those courses have begun and the refund period for all courses has expired. Student loan recipients must begin attendance in at least 6 credit hours before any loan funds will be disbursed.

Exception to the above: If a student drops a course prior to its 100% refund date, the dropped course will be excluded from the student's enrollment level when determining the grant award. If the late start course is dropped after the student has been paid grant funds for the semester, a repayment of aid by the student may result. We recommend consulting with the Financial Aid Office prior to dropping classes.

Attendance Reminder

Federal regulations require students to earn their financial aid by attending and actively participating in courses. Attendance information is collected from faculty to verify financial aid eligibility. If a student fails to begin attendance in a course, the student's financial aid enrollment level will be reduced which often results in a reduction or cancellation of financial aid.

Title IV Coursework Requirements

The Department of Education will not permit schools to issue financial aid for coursework not required for completion of a student's degree or certificate. Confirm all classes are needed for your program of study.

IMPORTANT ADVICE

Financial aid is designed to last for the entire semester. Budget accordingly.
