The value of communication in the variety of encounters law enforcement has with the public will be discussed with the focus on how to be successful during an interaction. De-escalation theory will be examined along with its proper use, how it can aid an officer in the performance of his/her duties and possibly prevent a situation from escalating to a use of force. In addition, we will review case law studies relating to use of force that are found in most Use Of Force Policy & Procedure.

Active participation by students is desired in order to further the training experience. The training will include the Virtra Firearms System.
