Answer to the amended petition

Defendant says that he is not guilty of speaking or uttering the words & language concerning the plaintiff in manner and form as charged in the amended petition. Defendant further says that it was at one time reported among the neighbors of plaintiff that he and his said daughter had slept together; that if he ever used any words concerning the plaintiff & his daughter it was in reference to this report and defendant was not the originator of this report so as to give it a malicious circulation.

Defendant has been informed that it was true that Plaintiff & his daughter did sleep together and for these reasons defendant says that plaintiff ought not to have & maintain his said suit.

The defendant moves the court to set aside the verdict of the jury & grant him a new trial for these reasons

- 1st Because it is against the evidence & the weight of evidence and instructions of the court
- 2 Because it is excessive & not warranted by the facts of the case
- 3 The case is not properly placed before the jury by the instructions
- 4 The instructions of the court are erroneous
- 5 The instructions given for plaintiff are erroneous & not the law of the case
- 6 The court improperly refused the instructions prayed by defendant
- 7 The ~~defendant~~ improperly refused to allow the ~~plaintiff~~ defendant to prove the general character of Haman but confined the evidence of character to the character of Harman for chastity & unchastity with his daughter
- 8 The words proven by Bumgardner & Reiser are not the same alleged and charged in the petition
- 9 The ~~evidence~~ of the words spoken are not substantially the same charged, but they vary materially from the words charged
- 10 The words ~~proven~~ charged are that Haman had cohabited with & gotten with child his daughter and the words proven by one witness were that he Hannan was a mean fellow that he had whored a long time in Europe with his daughter and that she would get a young one and by another witness as follows "Hannan was a hog thief & hog Eater, he would whore as boys do and had made his daughter a child. That these words are a variance from the words charged

11 The defendant was taken by surprise by the evidence of Bungardner

12 The court erred in refusing defendants instructions on the statute of limitations

13 The court improperly refused to let out evidence of defendant

14 The evidence does not show that Bungardner & Russen understood the German language

15 The whole proceedings are erroneous & the court improperly refused to allow defendant to plead amendment by pleading the statute of limitations that states that Dashner told him in the that Harmon was a hog eater, a hog stealer

May Term 1888.

The defendant comes and answers to the petition, for the following reasons to wit:

1. Because the words charged to have been uttered by plaintiff, are not charged to have been uttered within two years immediately before filing the annexed petition.

2. Because the words are charged to have been uttered in the German language and not set out in said language.

3. Because there is no sufficient cause of action stated.

Replied

If the jury believe from the evidence that the words uttered, by Aboultobee were uttered within two years from the passing of the last amended act, they must give for the defendant

General
If the Jury find from the Evidence that the Defendant spoke of and concerning the plaintiff, Substantially the Slanderous words as Charged in the petition, ~~and that the same were not true~~, then they will find for the plaintiff and assess such damages as under all the Circumstances in Evidence they shall deem right —

General
The fact that Oakes the Defendant may not have originated the Slanderous report concerning the plaintiff, and only repeated what was a general talk in the neighborhood, is no sufficient Excuse for using the language Charged, to entitle him to a verdict of acquittal. Yet the Jury may take the same into Consideration in Estimating the Amount of Damages they may give the plaintiff.

Replied
~~The answer of the defendant asserting the truth of the words spoken, is a repetition of the words charged. And if the Jury find them untrue, they have a right to take the same into Consideration in Estimating the amount of the damages.~~

General
But unless they find that the Slanderous words used by the Defendant, to be in substance the same as those Charged in the petition to have been uttered, they will find for the Defendant. And unless they find that the words were spoken maliciously, for the purpose of defaming the Character of the plaintiff, they will also find for the Defendant.

Grant
The injury if any to the Character of the Plaintiff's daughter will not be taken into Consideration by the Jury in estimating the amount of the damages to be given by them

Refused
If the Jury find the Plaintiff has in fact been guilty of Co-habiting with his daughter, as charged by the Defendant they will find for the Defendant, and the evidence to Establish the fact, need not be of a Character of a positive Character, but the jury may infer it from Circumstances proven, if the Jury believe them sufficient for that purpose

Grant
That before the jury can find for the Plaintiff they must be Satisfied from the Evidence, that as many of the identical words as imported the slander, have been proved precisely as charged in the petition, Equivocal words are not sufficient, But if the Defendant uttered a sufficient number of the identical words charged in the petition to carry with them the Slandorous imputations alleged

Given The words uttered or proved by Baumgardner if they were uttered in the summer of 1854, cannot sustain the words charged to have been uttered by Doshner in the petition -

Given If the jury believe that the witness Wendel Reaser, has wilfully sworn falsely in a material matter, they may reject the whole of his evidence -

Given And unless they find that the slanderous ^{words} used by Doshner, to be in substance the same as those charged in the petition they must find for the defendant - And unless they further find that the words were spoken maliciously for the purpose of defaming the character of the plaintiff they will also find for the defendant -

Given The injury if any to the character of Harmon daughter, cannot be taken into consideration by the jury in estimating the amount of the damages -

Given If the jury at all believe from the evidence, that Harmon character was good - or that he had no character for evil and was not injured by reason of words spoken by Doshner then, will find for the plaintiff only nominal damages

Instructions

- 1 The injury if any to the character of the plaintiff's daughter will not be taken into consideration by the Jury in estimating the amount of the damages to be given by them
- 2 That before the Jury can find for the plaintiff they must be satisfied from the evidence that as many of the identical words as imported the Slander have been proved precisely as charged in the petition, equivalent words are not sufficient. But if the defendant uttered a sufficient number of the identical words charged in the petition to carry with them the Slandorous imputations alleged
- 3 If the Jury find from the evidence that the defendant ~~did~~ ^{has} said and concerning the plaintiff substantially the Slandorous words as charged in the petition, then they will find for the plaintiff and assess such damages as under all the circumstances in evidence they shall deem right.
- 4 The fact that Dasher the defendant, may not have originated the Slandorous report concerning the plaintiff and ~~only~~ repeated what was a general talk in the neighborhood is no sufficient evidence for using the language charged to entitle him to a verdict of acquittal. Yet the Jury may take the same into consideration in estimating the amount of Damages they may give the plaintiff

5 ~~But unless the find that the slanderous words used by the defendant to be the substance the same as those charged in the petition they will find for the defendant; and unless they find that the words were spoken maliciously for the purpose of defaming the character of the plaintiff they will also find for the defendant.~~

6 The words uttered as proved by Bumgartner if they were uttered in the summer of 1854 cannot sustain the words charged to have been uttered by Dasher in the petition

7 If the Jury believe that the witness Wendel Reiser has willfully sworn falsely in a material matter, they may reject the whole of his evidence

8 ~~And unless the Jury find that the slanderous words used by Dasher to be in substance the same as those charged in the petition they must find for the defendant. And unless the further find that the words were spoken maliciously for the purpose of defaming the character of the plaintiff they will~~ also find for the defendant.

9 The injury if any to the character of Harmon's daughter cannot be taken into consideration by the Jury in estimating the amount of the damages.

10 If the Jury shall believe from the evidence that Harmon's character was bad, or that he had no character to lose and was not injured by reason of words spoken by each, then the will find for the plaintiff only nominal damages.

Sum

And if ^{you} ~~first~~ from the evidence that the words, charged to have been spoken - were not uttered within two years immediately before the offering of the original petition to wit, the 10th day of October 1856, they ^{is} must prove the
