James Armstrong, minor }
 By G. W. Hughes, his next } In the Circuit Friend, ss, } Court Jefferson
 James D. Sullivan, } County Mo,

The Defendant, in answer to Plaintiff's petition in the above cause, states that he does not owe Plaintiff four hundred & fifty dollars, for work & labor done for this Defendant, nor the sum of three hundred dollars, nor any amount whatever.

Defendant states that said James Armstrong, after being turned off from home by his step-father, said G. W. Hughes, and wandering & loitering about until he became nearly destitute of clothes, came to Defendant (when he was about thirteen years old) and agreed to work with Defendant until he was twenty one years of age, Defendant agreeing to furnish him with a good horse saddle & bridle ~~and~~ a new suit of clothes, ^{if he worked for him till he was 21} ~~at that time~~ and to send him six months to school during the time, and to board & clothe him during the time he stayed. — Defendant states said Boy's services were not more than worth his boarding & clothing during the time he stayed with ^{him} that a part of the time, he did not earn his board — that he was lazy & worthless, and as soon as he became able to be of some service to Defendant, he was persuaded away by the very man, (perhaps) who had refused to keep him at home. — After said Boy had stayed with Defendant, off & on, some year or two, he quit there and Defendant gave him a gun worth $15, and various articles of clothing, with which said Boy was well satisfied and claimed nothing more for his work. Defendant therefore states that he boarded & clothed said James Armstrong while he stayed with him and that he settled with him & paid him when ^{he quit} all he owed him & more too for his services were not worth his boarding & clothing. - Defendant therefore says he does not owe the plaintiff any thing whatever, for work & labor,
